Preparation of Proposals – Specific Considerations	14.1 While preparing the Proposal, the Consultant must give particular attention to the following: 14.1.1 If a shortlisted Consultant considers that it may enhance its expertise for the assignment by associating with other consultants in the form of a Joint Venture or as Sub-consultants, it may do so with either (a) non-shortlisted Consultant(s), or (b) shortlisted Consultants if permitted in the Data Sheet. In all such cases a shortlisted Consultant must obtain the written approval of the Client prior to the submission of the Proposal. Section 7. Terms of Reference

Terms of Reference (TOR)

Terms of Reference (TOR) for 'Geological Mapping and Mineral Exploration in Parts of Achham, Dailekh and Kalikot Districts Toposheet No. 2981 15, Nepal'

PART- A TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS

1. Background

Mineral resources and their proper exploitation play a very important role in the economic development of the country. Continues efforts are necessary to identify the potential mineral deposits and exploitation of known resources in due time. Department of Mines and Geology (DMG) has been conducting geological mapping and mineral exploration works as one of the most important activities to find out the mineralization targets in the past. However, the national mineral resource potential remains poorly defined due to geographic, infrastructural, financial and technological obstacles. The modernization of the mineral endowment is still waiting. This incorporates the future of mineral prospects in Nepal.

DMG, since its establishment is conducting systematic geological mapping. As a result, all the accessible parts of the country are covered by first generation geological mapping in 1:1 mile scale. The second generation mapping of the country in 1:50,000 scale is going on. But, DMG has not adequate manpower to continue the program. Geological mapping and mineral exploration is needed to analyze its economic potential to attract potential miners and to provide geological information for infrastructure development. To fulfill this gap we need geological mapping of the remaining area at the scale of 1:50,000 scale, mineral prospectivity analysis of the area and demarcation of area for the detailed exploration and feasibility studies.

2. Objectives

The general objective of the geological mapping and mineral exploration program is to prepare geological map of the assigned area in the scale of 1:50,000 and identify different mineral resources available there in.

The specific objective of the consulting service is:

- To carry out geological mapping of the area basically in 1:25,000 scale or available topographical base map
- To delineate potential prospect areas of the available different metallic and non-metallic mineral resources.
- To identify potential prospect areas of the available different metallic and non metallic mineral commodities for further follow up exploration.

- To prepare geological maps in 1:50,000 scale and reports with all the details including the mineral showing/occurrence of prospect.

3. Scope of the Works

The main scope of work for the consultant is:

- Field study and data collection of Topo-sheet no. 2981 15 (1:25,000), covering parts of Achham, Dailekh and Kalikot Districts, Nepal within 650 square kilometer area.
- Optimum utilization of aerial photographs, satellite, topographic maps and previous study reports related to the study area.
- Geological assessment reports and maps that provide comprehensive picture of geological structure and mineral resources potential.
- Utilization of outcome for environmental, engineering and mineral resources development.

4. Basic Data and Previous Works Related to Study

Basic data like regional geological maps, available reports along with satellite imageries (Landsat-TM) on parts of the study area in possession of the DMG will be made available for reference on request.

5. Methodology

The methodology of exploration work should be done as per the following stages.

(The consultant may propose more constructive suggestions regarding this work that can be considered and further elaborated by mutual understanding).

1. 5.1 Inception Stage (Pre-field Study)

- Review of relevant literatures.
- Collect and study all the available, topographic maps, satellite imageries, aerial photographs, geological maps and other relevant and prepare a draft geological map along with preliminary mineral potential areas in 1:50,000 scale (The consultant shall have access to the literatures available at Department of Mines and Geology)
- Historical data on mineralization within the study area should be collected to have general idea about the previous localities and related geological conditions
- Prepare the list of previous occurrence/deposit and locations of mineralization with references
- Prepare the inception report including detailed methodology for successful performance of the work, their time schedule and activities consisting of manpower to be evolved
- Present inception report with detail work plan/ probable route for the study and the comprehensive survey program.

- The fieldwork must be carried out strictly by assigned personnel only. Changing manpower without prior approval by DMG is not allowed.
- Geological investigation/Mapping in 1:25,000 scale along with location of available mineral resources within the study areas. The assigned area must be covered so as to cross the geological strata at (traverses along ridges and rivers) maximum points and each grid in the topographic map (1Km×1Km) must contain at least 2 (two) geological study points with GPS location.
- Carry out Preliminary exploration work in study area and identify the potential target area for available metallic and non-metallic mineral resources
- Collect representative samples and locate the sample sites in geological maps
- Make necessary photographs and sketches of important locations
- Collect necessary information required to prepare the geological map of the study area
- Prepare columnar sections and sketches.
- Provide the data on dimensions of mineral bearing horizon/bands including strike length, thickness etc and collect samples with sample location.

PART II

Section 8. Conditions of Contract and Contract Forms

Foreword

1. Part II includes standard Contract forms for Consulting Services (a Time-Based Contract).
2. Time-Based Contract. This type of contract is appropriate when it is difficult to define or fix the scope and the duration of the services, either because they are related to activities carried out by others for which the completion period may vary, or because the input of the consultants required for attaining the objectives of the assignment is difficult to assess. In time-based contracts the Consultant provides services on a timed basis according to quality specifications, and Consultant's remuneration is determined on the basis of the time actually spent by the Consultant in carrying out the Services and is based on (i) agreed upon unit rates for the Consultant's experts multiplied by the actual time spent by the experts in executing the assignment, and (ii) other expenses and provisional sums using actual expenses and/or agreed unit prices. This type of contract requires the Client to closely supervise the Consultant and to be involved in the daily execution of the assignment.
